Professor Susan C. Faircloth, Director

The School of Education (https://www.chhs.colostate.edu/soe) is part of the College of Health and Human Sciences. Our programs advance communication and leadership skills in order to support students in becoming effective, caring, and transformational educators and leaders.

Offering a variety of degree programs and certificates at the undergraduate, masters and doctoral levels, the School of Education equips educators to teach, mentor, counsel, and lead people of all ages. Learning takes place in a variety of settings, including distance, online, on-campus, and hybrid formats.

The School of Education is committed to scholarly excellence. Partnering with the external professional community through formal partnerships and outreach, centers and institutes, faculty and students use research and engagement to impact social and educational issues. Faculty are comprised of scholars, scholar-practitioners and scholar-activists, with research topics focused on critical social and educational needs of today's organizations and institutions. Programs offer students opportunities for practical application of knowledge and skills gained through coursework, ensuring they are prepared to put these to work in real-world environments.

Center for Educator Preparation (CEP)

Office in Education Building, Room 111
(970) 491-5292
chhs.colostate.edu/soe/center-for-educator-preparation

Part of the School of Education, the educator preparation program at CSU is nationally accredited by the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP) and state accredited by the Colorado Department of Education and the Colorado Department of Higher Education. CEP consists of clinical practitioners, scholars, and advocates collaboratively preparing educational professionals through a Professional Development School model.

Section 207 of Title II of the Higher Education Act mandates that the Department of Education collect data on state requirements for teacher certification and licensure, as well as data on the performance of teacher preparation programs. The Title II Institutional Report for CSU is available through the School of Education website.

Learning Outcomes

Students will demonstrate:

- Employment of innovative instructional methods to promote student success and to meet state and national standards
- Understanding of how students differ in their approaches to learning and create instructional opportunities that are adapted to diverse learners
- Mastery of the content knowledge students will use for teaching a subject
- Ability to impact learning of P-12 students through course work and field experiences
- Knowledge about careers in teaching and of education governance

Potential Occupations

Examples include:

- Public or private school teacher
- Principal
- Staff developer
- School counselor
- Early childhood center director
- Post-secondary teacher
- School social worker
- School occupational therapist
- Curriculum specialist
- Human resources trainer
- Educational sales

One of the most important ways to help people and to impact our society is through involvement in schools. Teachers make lasting contributions to our nation and its many generations of learners. Teacher education programs at CSU serve the needs of individuals preparing to teach in:

- Early Childhood Education (PreK-3rd grade)
- Grades K-12: Art, Foreign Languages, Instructional Technology, Music

CSU is one of the public institutions in Colorado designated to offer programs leading towards a career and technical (vocational) credential. Candidates for teacher licensure are skilled in a teaching concentration and educational methodology. These students take their professional education course work concurrently while completing their content area coursework. Candidates may complete licensure while enrolled in an undergraduate program or after completing a bachelor's degree at an accredited university.

Professional Education Coursework for Licensure

The professional education requirements listed below apply to all teaching endorsement areas except early childhood education where EDUC 400, EDUC 425, and EDUC 426 are required in place of EDUC 350, EDUC 386, EDUC 450, and EDUC 486E. Additional courses may be required by specific endorsement areas. For clarification, refer to individual coursework check sheets which can be obtained in the Education Building, room 111, and on the CEP website (https://www.chhs.colostate.edu/soe/center-for-educator-preparation/undergraduate-teacher-licensure).

Candidates in all endorsement areas must complete appropriate methods courses the semester prior to enrolling in student teaching. (EDUC/EDCT 4XX - level courses)

Career and Technical Education

Individuals desiring to teach in or administer career and technical programs in the state of Colorado must qualify for a credential in addition to a teaching license. Those who plan to qualify as career and technical education (CTE) teachers or directors must meet the requirements for a CTE credential established by the Community Colleges of Colorado and the Colorado Department of Education. Credentialing questions may be directed to the Department of Education, (303) 866-6628.

Professional Education Course Requirements

The professional education course requirements listed under Professional Education Coursework for Licensure apply to all teaching endorsement areas in career and technical education.

Agricultural Education

Kellie Enns, Ph.D., Program Chair

Candidates studying Agricultural Education are prepared to teach youth and adults in high schools, community colleges, junior colleges, area career and technical schools, and technical institutes. Two thousand hours in the agriculture industry are required in addition to completion of the agriculture curriculum and professional education coursework.

For the detailed four-year curriculum, refer to the College of Agricultural Sciences, Department of Agricultural and Resource Economics, major in Agricultural Education, or contact the Center for Educator Preparation Advising Center in the Education Building, Room 111.

Family and Consumer Sciences

Dawn Mallette, Ph.D., Program Chair

Candidates majoring in Family and Consumer Sciences with a concentration in Family and Consumer Sciences Education are prepared to be employed as teachers in middle schools, junior or senior high schools, community and junior colleges, area career and technical schools, and technical institutes.

For the detailed four-year curriculum, refer to the interdepartmental major in Family and Consumer Sciences, Family and Consumer Sciences Education concentration, under the School of Education.
Technology Education
Ms. Allis Werkmeister, Degree Adviser

The B.S. degree program in Engineering Science (https://www.engr.colostate.edu/content/engineering-science) with an Engineering Education concentration provides students with opportunities to enter junior and senior high school laboratories to teach engineering design principles and concepts in an exciting engineering and technology education classroom. The program consists of a balanced mix of mathematics, science, and engineering courses with additional professional education coursework in the Center for Educator Preparation leading to a B.S. degree in Engineering Science and teacher licensure in Technology Education (Engineering).

For the detailed degree and licensure curriculum, refer to the major in Engineering Science, Teacher Education concentration, in the College of Engineering.
