ATHLETICS

Intercollegiate Athletics
Sport Clubs
Intramural Sports

Intercollegiate Athletics

McGraw Athletic Center
(970) 491-7217 / CSURams.com (http://csurams.com/)/@CSURams (https://twitter.com/CSURams/)

CSU sponsors 16 NCAA Division I varsity programs (6 men’s teams and 10 women’s teams) participating in the Mountain West Conference. The department serves nearly 400 student-athletes and awards a full allotment of scholarships as allowed by the NCAA each academic year. Our mission statement, TO EDUCATE, ENGAGE AND EXCEL, embraces the philosophy of the entire CSU campus, whereby our priority is to provide access to education for student-athletes; engage the broader community by drawing thousands of stakeholders to the University and excel in all pursuits. Complete information about our intercollegiate athletic program can be found at CSURams.com (http://csurams.com/).

Sport Clubs

Sport Clubs are student-managed teams that train together, travel, and compete on a national level. As student-managed organizations, team members are involved in fundraising, coaching selection, budgets, and more. Sport Clubs students are serious athletes and games/matches are held throughout the state and country. To find out more information about Campus Recreation’s 29 teams visit csurec.colostate.edu (https://csurec.colostate.edu/).

Intramural Sports

Intramural Sports are a great way to engage in the CSU community throughout the entire year. The Intramural Sports Program offers tons of leagues and tournaments each semester from flag football to soccer, kickball, tube water polo, and more. Different divisions (women’s, men’s, coed, or open) are offered depending on the sport and some sports offer both recreational and competitive leagues. The best prize of all are the great memories and the chance to have fun! To find out more information