

CERTIFICATE IN MANAGING HUMAN RESOURCES

The College of Business offers the Certificate in Managing Human Resources to students majoring in Business Administration. This certificate will give students a basic understanding of the functional areas of human resource management to add to their specific major area. Students can expect an introduction to the field of human resource management including employment law, recruitment, selection, training and development, performance management, and compensation.