DEPARTMENT OF DESIGN AND MERCHANDISING

Nancy Richardson Design Center, Room 114
(970) 491-1629
www.chhs.colostate.edu/dm

Department Head: Karen Hyllegard, Ph.D.

Vision
The Department of Design and Merchandising aims to cultivate leaders among today’s students to drive tomorrow’s innovative advancements in economic, environmental, and social sustainability across the apparel and merchandising and the interior architecture and design disciplines.

Mission
The Department of Design and Merchandising’s mission is to achieve excellence in education and scholarship through community engagement, industry collaboration, creative exploration, and scientific inquiry. As a department, we are committed to advancing and fostering understanding of socially responsible conceptualization, design, adoption, and evaluation of processes, products, and environments that responsively enhance the human experience.

The Department of Design and Merchandising offers undergraduate study in two nationally accredited programs: Apparel and Merchandising (AM) and Interior Architecture and Design (IAD). The AM major includes three concentrations: Apparel Design and Production, Product Development, and Merchandising. The Apparel and Merchandising program is accredited by the Textile and Apparel Program Accreditation Commission of the International Textile and Apparel Association and the IAD program is accredited by the Council for Interior Design Accreditation. The department also offers a master’s degree in Design and Merchandising.

Graduate

Graduate Programs in Design and Merchandising
The department offers graduate programs leading to a Master of Science degree in Design and Merchandising. Students may specialize in Apparel and Merchandising or Interior Design. For more information about program emphases and requirements, contact the department. Students interested in graduate work should refer to the Graduate and Professional Bulletin (http://catalog.colostate.edu/general-catalog/graduate-bulletin/) and the Department of Design and Merchandising (http://www.dm.chhs.colostate.edu/).

Learning Outcomes
Design and Merchandising graduate students will:

- Demonstrate mastery of design and merchandising concepts and theories in their respective focal areas, including apparel design and production, consumer behavior, creativity, merchandising, interior design, product development, social/cultural/historical aspects of dress and design, sustainability/resilience, and textile science.
- Critically review and interpret research through a review of literature relevant to a research problem or challenge.
- Demonstrate an understanding of how to conduct and implement original research in design and merchandising as demonstrated through problem identification, literature review, study design, data collection, and data analysis/interpretation.
- Effectively communicate outcomes of design and merchandising research in diverse presentation formats (e.g., oral, written, visual).
• Be successful in procuring positions in industry or academia and/or admission to doctoral-level programs.
• Be involved in co-curricular activities.

Certificate
• Evidence-Based Design (http://catalog.colostate.edu/general-catalog/colleges/design-merchandising/design-specialization/graduate-certificate-evidence-based-design-research/) (No new students are being admitted to this certificate at this time).

Master’s Programs
• Master of Science in Design and Merchandising, Plan A, Apparel and Merchandising Specialization (http://catalog.colostate.edu/general-catalog/colleges/design-merchandising/design-specialization/plan-a-design-merchandising-apparel-specialization/)

Registration Information: Must register for lecture and laboratory. Credit not allowed for AM 220 and DM 120.
Terms Offered: Fall, Spring.
Grade Mode: Traditional.
Special Course Fee: No.

AM 240 Computer-Aided Apparel Design Credits: 3 (0-6-0)
Course Description: Apparel design using the computer to generate drawings for fabric, graphic logo, and apparel.
Prerequisite: AM 143.
Registration Information: Portfolio review required.
Term Offered: Spring.
Grade Mode: Traditional.
Special Course Fee: No.

AM 241 Patternmaking I - Flat Pattern Credits: 3 (1-4-0)
Course Description: Application of patternmaking techniques including sloper drafting and flat pattern manipulation methods for apparel products. Design and construction of original garments using flat pattern manipulation methods to analyze garment fit.
Prerequisite: None.
Registration Information: AM 143; (MATH 117; MATH 118 or MATH 120 or MATH 127). Sophomore standing. Portfolio review required. Must register for lecture and laboratory.
Term Offered: Fall.
Grade Mode: Traditional.
Special Course Fee: Yes.
AM 243 Adobe Photoshop for Textile Design Credits: 3 (3-0-0)
Course Description: Textile design using Adobe Photoshop to generate drawings for surface and structural textile design.
Prerequisite: None.
Registration Information: Offered as an online course only.
Terms Offered: Fall, Spring, Summer.
Grade Mode: Traditional.
Special Course Fee: No.

AM 244 Fashion Illustration Credits: 3 (1-4-0)
Course Description: Illustration skills using traditional media/computer aided design applications and analysis of visual communication.
