MAJOR IN COMPUTER SCIENCE, COMPUTER SCIENCE CONCENTRATION

The Computer Science concentration is a broad computer science program that prepares students for any introductory position in the field. This concentration also allows students to select a research area (http://www.cs.colostate.edu/cstocp/csresearch.php) and focus on that topic in their 400-level coursework. Students can also take a breadth focus – a little bit of everything – for a broader perspective.