

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN COMPUTER SCIENCE, PLAN A

The Master of Science in Computer Science, Plan A is a research-based degree which includes coursework, research, and a thesis. The degree is appropriate for students who intend to go on to work in computer science research and development for industry or government, or those seeking more advanced research training in a computer science Ph.D. program.

Requirements Effective Fall 2010

At least 35 credits of graduate course work, including up to 8 credits of CS 699.